William Harkins, a Former Salt Laker, Believed to be Dead in Mountains.

(Special to The Herald.)

Richfield, Feb. 1.—William Harkins is believed to have perished from cold on Gold mountain. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since last Sunday. He arrived at Kimberley from the Trapper's Pride mine for supplies a week ago Thursday. Saturday was a very disagreeable day and he was persuaded not to attempt to return. Although Sunday was a bad day also, he determined to undertake the trip and started off at 6:30 o'clock in the morning. He got a man named W. H. Thurston to take the supplies on horseback, he going on foot. Thurston got through with the supplies but Harkins never arrived. His friends became nervous about him at the mine, but failed to locate him anywhere on the mountain. Searching parties have been out since Thursday of this week, but up to tonight no trace of the missing man has been found.

The Trapper's Pride mine is four miles from Kimberley, and the trail leads over a steep ridge. Storms have been prevailing every day, and a snowslide has occurred near the Tribune tunnel. It is believed he was caught in this slide or lost his bearings and was frozen to death.

There is little hope of finding him until the snow disappears in the spring.

Harkins is well known in Salt Lake City, where he did much grading and graveling on the streets ten years ago. His wife is dead and it is believed he has children in Idaho. He was 50 years old, sober and industrious and lately went in partnership with Allan Gorr on the Trapper's Pride mine.

CONFERENCE OF IRRIGATORS. Farmers on Weber River Adjust Dif-

Coalville, Jan. 31.—An irrigation convention was held here today, at which 224 delegates were present from the counties of Davis, Weber, Morgan and Symmit. Every summer when there is a scarcity of water for irrigation purposes a great many complaints are made by the farmers of Davis and Weber counties, especially the latter. They claim that Summit county people use more water from the Weber river than they are entitled to. This is denied by the farmers along the Weber; hence there is much dispute over the priority of water rights. The object of the convention was to effect an amicable adjustment of the difficulty. After considerable discussion, the following motion was carried:

"That the water commissioners from Weber Davis Morgan and Symmits." ferences.

"That the water commissioners from Weber, Davis, Morgan and Summit countles, and the state engineer, form a committee to regulate and equitably distribute the waters of the Weber river and all tributaries thereto to the various irrigation ditches and canals for a period of one year."

The convention adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

PROVO TOWN ASSUMES METROPOLITAN AIRS.

Provo, Feb. 1.—The Provo postoffice this morning became a classified office and all its employes became full-fledged civil service employes, subject only to the postoffice department at Washington.

The free postal delivery service was also put into operation this morning, and the appearance of three mail carriers with their mail sacks strapped upon their backs gives Provo quite a metropolitan air. The mail boxes and carriers' uniforms have not yet arrived. All the streets and houses are numbered, as are other cities having the free delivery system.

Postmaster Clove has been advised that the two rural routes leading out from Provo to the north will soon be instituted. He has been ordered to notify the people that applications for positions as carriers on these routes should and must be made immediately, so that the special agent, when he comes, can make the examinations and perfect arrangements for the service. These two routes take in Provobench and river and Vineyard.

The mother refused to give the boy up to its father, and he attempted, unsuccessfully, to kidnap it. Rutledge claimed the child to kidnap it. Look out for the "Free Belt" Man.

Beware of the "Institute" and the "Professor" who advertise to send an electric belt "free." The offer is only a bait. If you answer you will receive a blank to be filled out. When you return this the "Institute" will tell you (on a printed form, which is sent to all cases alike, showing that no special attention is given to any case) that their "council of physicians" have examined your case, and that an electric belt will not cure you, but you need medicine, and they send you a box of pills, C. O. D. $5.60, and express charges. They tell you that the "free belt" is in the box, but you can't get it free unless you buy the medicine. The "belt" is of the class that is sold by street corner fakirs at 50 cents each. The box of pills you can buy in a drug store for about 5 cents.

But your trouble does not end here. Most of these concerns which make a practice of pirating upon legitimate lines of business by offering the bait "Free" to make you think you can get something of value for nothing will peddle your name and address among all the nasty doctors who make a speciality of loathsome diseases, and these persons will flood your door with circulars advertising their cures for years to come.

A good thing to remember is that anything advertised as "Free" is usually "a bait to catch a sucker." It always proves more expensive than the genuine article bought for cash. If you have been deceived by this "Free Belt" concern, send to
